O.H. Addition Rejected

A large number of voters turned out for the Special Town Meeting to consider a proposal for a $880,000 addition to Old Hammondtown School. A secret ballot was requested. After the debate on the floor the measure failed to gain a simple majority. The vote was 272 to 232. A 2/3 vote would have been required to pass. The School Building Committee presented the proposal in a very comprehensive way. They said that all avenues had been explored and that this proposal was the most reasonable approach to solving the present problem. They stated that the addition if it had been accepted would have been filled to capacity at the time the doors were opened. Immigration to the town and not the birth rate was cited as being the cause of the pressure on the school system. At the conclusion of the vote, Chairman George White said that he was disappointed at the result. He said that the committee was prepared to present another proposal in a Special Town Meeting which could be called within the Annual Town Meeting on May 6. The voters did not respond favorably to this suggestion. Donald Fleming, the moderator, declared the proposal as a "dead issue" and said that the Selectmen would have to reach the decision on any further action on the addition. The second article was connected to the first and was automatically void.

The final article was on the acceptance of a feasibility study made on Center School concerning $26,600 worth of work to bring the building up to State standards as regards fire doors on each side of the stage of the auditorium, work on the rest rooms and other improvements. Mrs. Blanche Perry of the School Committee explained the work proposed and the reasons for it. A lengthy debate followed and finally it was voted to accept the feasibility report.

"Be Gentle with Our Earth" was the title of an exhibit of drawings and paintings by Gerda Andrews displayed at the regular monthly meeting of the Mattapoisett Woman's Club held Thursday, March 28, at 1 P.M., at the Mattapoisett Congregational Church Parish Hall. The Conservation and Recreation Department of the club, Mrs. Richard Waterhouse, chairman, arranged for the meeting. Mrs. Andrews, from Marion, spoke briefly about the Bird Island Restoration Project. The Garden Group conducted a successful plant sale. Mrs. Stephen Flanders and her committee served as hostesses for the afternoon. Mrs. Philip Murray conducted the brief business meeting at which time special guests, the Presidents of Third District Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, were introduced.

a lower level children's room at a cost of $75,000 (Article 28). The second proposal concerns installation of a fire detection system, adding fire exits, renovating and replacing two toilets and pouring a new concrete slab throughout the cellar of the library at a cost of $37,000. for a total of $112,000. Mr. Waterhouse hopes that federal revenue sharing funds can be applied to the project which he said, "would assure funds without added expense to the town resident property owner".

CITATION FROM GOVERN SARGENT RECEIVED BY ENOCH WINSLOW

The following is a letter from Governor Francis Sargent to Mr. Enoch LeBaron Winslow:

I am pleased to extend to you the greetings of the Commonwealth, as well as my own, on the occasion of your retirement after fifty years of service to Mattapoisett.

You may be proud of your career in Mattapoisett's town government as Town Assessor, Highway Commissioner and Wharfinger. I join with your family, friends and fellow citizens in expressing deep appreciation for your dedication to the community.

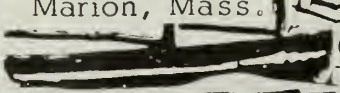

I hope that your retirement years will be a source of personal fulfillment to you.

With best wishes,

Open Letter

For the 4th time the residents of this town have short changed its youngsters. It is a mystery to me that people can continue to shut their eyes to a situation as critical as this. Why don't more people in town do their homework? To assume that a classroom has excess space just because all the chairs and tables are clustered at one end of the room is hardly fair. Why not stay around for a while and observe - see what the teacher does with that room? Just walking through a building and glancing at a room does not give the true picture of the activity that takes place in that room in a given day. Teaching methods are not what they used to be and I, for one, am glad. The children today learn more and learn faster than any of us did. The pace of the world that we have given our children demands that they learn more about more things than we ever thought possible.

I hope that all of you people who voted no on the addition never have a child or grand-child who needs some of the special services that will now be unavailable.

The people of this town annually vote for a committee to study the needs of the schools the school building committee was posted and open to the public to attend. Where were all of you people with your answers and solutions? You say that we did not get the right numbers. Where were you? Why didn't you come and see us? Have you been to budget meetings for other departments in town? Have you tried to see if there are other areas that the town budget might be cut? How can this town continue to ask people to give their time and energy and then allow them to be insulted at town meeting? You cannot close your eyes to the needs for ever. Wait until you see the price tag when you finally see the light.

Those of you who favored the addition but did not bother to attend the meeting should be ashamed of yourselves. When your children are coming and going at odd hours and only getting 3 1/2 to 4 hours of education per day in a double session situation, I hope you will at least say "I'm sorry".

This committee started at the beginning. We did a great deal of research. We looked very carefully at the amount of building going on in town. With all due respect to Mr. Jenney, most of the building in town is going on outside the jurisdiction of the water department in areas where wells are necessary.

To the people who came to the meeting and voted YES, I can only say thank you on behalf of all the children in town.

THE BLAME?

Editorial, D.C.J.

The charge hurled at senior citizens at the Special Town Meeting that they are careless to the needs of the school system is unfounded and ignores three facts.

1) The majority of the voters at the Special Town Meeting were not seniors but young adults, yet the vote failed to carry a simple majority.

2) Mattapoisett has voted and has built 3 schools and has a 4th in the building. Bond issues on Old Rochester, Old Hammondtown, Old Rochester Junior and Old Colony Regional Technical Vocational are still outstanding for years to come.

3) The table prepared below will show approximately how many seniors and summer homeowners are needed to support each child in school. The fact is that these people with no children in the school system are the only reason that the school system is able to obtain the money to operate.

This table is based upon a $1500. home property tax. The total budget for the Elementary School from July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1975 is $733,286., so the cost to teach one pupil K-6 is approximately $1,015.63 obtained by dividing $733,286. by the total of 722 elementary school pupils. It costs $1443.9489 to teach each pupil at the Senior High for the same period. At the Junior High the figure is $1235.4718. A homeowner who pays $1500. in property tax found 63% of that total going to support the school system last year. $$1500. \times .63 = \945.00 or less than the cost to keep even one child in the elementary school. This deficit must be made up from homeowners who have no children in school.

The blame, if any must be placed, is inflation and certainly no age group is immune to that.

195 SCHEDULE OPEN IN JULY

Representative William MacLean has replied to the Selectmen's request for an opening of the 195 link to Fairhaven. He said that he had talked to the District Highway Engineer Joseph Cronin who said that the highway is scheduled to be open by July 1 to include the bridge over the Acushnet River. Representative MacLean said that the lights at Sconticut Neck are not operating and that the access road from Sconticut Neck to 195 is in poor condition due to the telephone building construction. For this reason it is not ready to accommodate the volume of traffic that would be funneled into it in an earlier opening of the link to Mattapoisett.

Mrs. Gloria Rounds, Publicity

Letter to the Editor

At the forthcoming town meeting the citizens of Rochester will decide whether to outlaw motor boats from Snow's and Mary's Ponds.

Hopefully they will do so.

The most primary concern is, of course, safety. Mary's Pond in particular is full of swimmers and there is also a Boy Scout camp there. Only a miracle thus far has prevented serious injury or death.

There is a place for speed boats, but certainly not on these two small bodies of water.

Trolling motors present no particular hazard, but perhaps the fishermen themselves would like to cast their lines into waters which are free of oil slick and noise.

The shores and surrounding weeds of the once-lovely Mary's Pond are already devastated. Beer cans, rubbish, debris of all sorts border its waters.

DIRK BACH AT THE ART CENTER

The multi-media collages of Dirk Bach are now on display at the Marion Art Center. These unique works of art combine wood, paint, photo-silkscreen, three dimensional objects like bodhi leaves and plexiglass to create illusions of time and space.

Mr. Bach is currently a professor at Rhode Island School of Design. He has also taught at the University of New Hampshire and has given lectures at many schools and colleges throughout the northeast.
Dirk Bach specializes in oriental art as curator and historian. His own work reflects the knowledge of design and use of space often associated with the arts of the East. A graduate of the University of Denver and the University of Michigan, Mr.
Bach has exhibited his work all over the country. One man shows include the Webster Gallery, St. Louis; the Tucson Art Center, Arizona; the National Center for Atmospheric Research, Boulder, Colorado; and now the Marion Art Center. We are indeed fortunate to have an artist of this calibre exhibiting in this area.

The Gallery is open Tuesdays through Fridays, 1 to 4:30 P.M. and Sunday afternoons. Dirk Bach's show will be on display at the Unitarian Memorial Church, Green Street, Fairhaven at 7 P.M. Sunday, April 7th. Miss Mildred Jones Keefe, 10 Pearl Street, is chairman of the Creative Arts Council. She offers her personal invitation to Presto Press readers. Members of the Marblehead Unitarian-Universalist Church will perform a special program of sacred dances specifically planned and designed for presentation in the beautiful 15th century gothic cathedral-like sanctuary. The church was given by Henry Huttleston Rogers to the Unitarian Society of Fairhaven in memory of his mother at the turn of the century. The group has performed throughout the United States and Canada, and the Creative Arts Council of the Fairhaven church feels extremely proud and fortunate to be able to bring a program of this calibre to the Greater New Bedford Area. A reception and refreshments will follow the service. At the reception an exhibit of dance photography will be on display. The public is cordially invited and there will be no admission charge. A free-will offering will be taken to help defray expenses. It is hoped the public will take advantage of this opportunity to enjoy another of the many art forms being offered this year by the Creative Art Council.

IN THE FAIRHAVEN LUMBER BUILDING

He also gave 7 wolf badges. Receiving these badges were: Frank McKeone, John Coucci, Michael Harris, Charles Lomba, Mark Kroninger, Melvin Trott and Erick Johnson.

Den 2 put on a television show skit and Den 1 dramatized a sound which the audience had to guess. Both of these illustrated their March theme of communications.

Den 1, Den 2 and Webelos all had a display table showing their projects for the month.

Pack 55 closed their meeting by repeating their Cub Scout Promise and the singing of Taps.

Lenten Fair Saturday

The Mattapoisett Congregational Church School reminds children of all ages (and Mom & Pop too, of course!) to join them this Saturday in the Parish Hall from noon until 3 P.M. at their annual Lenten Project Fair. Come and share in the fun as you help them to help others.

This fair is the big one that the children work so hard for each year in order to benefit the heifer project and the family service box project.

There will be games for all, home baked goodies, balloons, refreshments, hand crafted items, white elephants, and, as usual, some unannounced surprises! Come early - stay late. We'll be looking for you!

Recycling Center?

A group of Mattapoisett residents, through the League of Women Voters, is making efforts to start a Recycling Center in the town. Hoping to begin with recycled paper and glass, the group has contacted a firm in Connecticut which will buy the glass for a price of over $20. a ton, and is in the process of finding a trucker who will transport the collected bottles. Both the glass and bottle collection should be profitable.

Once the preliminaries have been done, the group intends to present the program to the Mattapoisett Board of Health for their approval.

Following that approval, a public meeting will be held for all townspeople in the hopes that interested people can band together to help start better ecological habits and encouraging others to do the same.

Recycling is only one part of trying to save some of the natural resources of this country. These resources are at the mercy of the consumer, who, by 1978, will need 60% more timber cut to satisfy his paper needs. The use--and--reuse attitude could save millions of trees each year, and re-used bottles save both the resources needed for their production and the landfill space needed for their dumping.

A local recycling center, and conscientious use of it by all the citizens, is one way that everyone can do something positive for the environment, one way for you to be effective.
